TOTAL POPULATION, INCREASE, AND DISTRIBUTION.

Population of the state.—The area now comprising Kansas and a part of Colorado was organized as the Territory of Kansas in 1854, and in January, 1861, that portion of the territory lying within the present boundaries of Kansas was admitted to the Union as the thirty-fourth state. According to the Fourteenth Census, taken as of January 1, 1920, its population is 1,769,257, which represents an increase of 78,308, or 4.6 per cent, since 1910. During the same period the population of the United States increased by 14.9 per cent.

The following summary shows the population of Kansas from 1860 to 1920, inclusive, together with the number and per cent of increase for each decade, in comparison with the per cent of increase for the United States as a whole:

Counties.—Kansas has 105 counties, of which 48 show increases and 57 decreases as compared with 1910. (See Table 1.) There have been no changes in the county boundaries since 1910.

Density of population.—The total land area of the state is 81,774 square miles. The average number of inhabitants to the square mile in 1920 is 21.6 (see Table 1), as against 20.7 in 1910 and 18 in 1900.

Minor civil divisions.—The political units into which the counties are divided are collectively termed "minor civil divisions." The counties of Kansas are made up of 1,655 primary divisions, comprising 1,533 townships and 122 independent cities. The remaining cities, 403 in number, constitute the secondary divisions; each of 19 cities is located in 2 or more townships, and each of the remaining 384 cities forms a part of the township in which located. (See Table 2.)

Cities.—Kansas has 525 cities, of which Kansas City, with a population of 101,177, is the largest, and Wichita, with 72,217, is second in size. (See Tables 3 and 4.)

The summary on the following page shows, for each city having 15,000 or more inhabitants in 1920, the population at each census for which figures are available, together with the number and per cent of increase during the preceding decade.

Urban and rural population.—The Census Bureau defines urban population as that residing in cities and other incorporated places having 2,500 inhabitants or more, and rural population as that residing outside such incorporated places.

The following summary presents, for the last three censuses, figures showing the urban and rural population of the state distributed among places grouped according to specified limits of population. The classification for each census is based upon the population of the various places as shown by the returns of that census. Consequently the territory comprised within any one class of cities or that designated as urban or as rural does not remain fixed, because any given place may, through the growth or the decline of its population, pass from one class to another at successive censuses. The proportion of the population of Kansas living in places of 2,500 or more increased from 22.5 per cent in 1900 to 29.2 per cent in 1910 and to 34.9 per cent in 1920.

TABLE 1.—AREA AND POPULATION OF COUNTIES: 1860 TO 1920.

[In computing the percentage of increase from 1890 to 1900 the population of Indian reservations in 1900 has been deducted from the totals for those counties in which such reservations were located, in order to make them comparable with the totals for 1890, which did not include the population of Indian reservations. The deductions thus made were as follows: Brown County, 968; Doniphan County, 47; Jackson County, 1,011.]

POPULATION—KANSAS.

[In computing the percentage of increase from 1890 to 1900 the population of Indian reservations in 1900 has been deducted from the totals for those counties in which such reservations were located, in order to make them comparable with the totals for 1890, which did not include the population of Indian reservations. The deductions thus made were as follows: Brown County, 988; Doniphan County, 47; Jackson County, 1,011.]

[A minus sign (-) denotes decrease.]
